

MORE N. Y. PASTORS COMMEND SCHOOLS IN CHURCHES IDEA

Evening World Suggestion
Wins Approval as a War
Emergency Plan.

Indorsements of the suggestion offered Saturday in The Evening World that the Board of Education and the churches of New York arrange to hold public school sessions in the school and class rooms of churches in the present emergency, continue to be received from pastors.

As stated in The Evening World editorial, this plan would put to use rooms that seldom are opened except on Sundays, and would insure full time instruction for all children of school age in New York.

Mayor Hylan is impressed with the plan and has asked that the Board of Education investigate its practicability.

Additional opinions from pastors follow:

Rabbi Alexander Lyons, Eighth Avenue Temple: "Several years ago, in a lecture, I urged this very proposition which The Evening World is now seeking to promote. I maintained that at a time of congestion, when children are inadequately accommodated by the public schools, there was a rare opportunity that no church would fail to seize eagerly to give evidence of a desire to serve the public in any way that makes for the general uplift. Most of our churches are too little used. The extent to which they are used does not justify the tremendous cost of their upkeep. I am heartily in favor of the arrangement as now proposed by The Evening World to place church buildings in the service of the educational authorities of the city."

The Rev. John Lewis Clark, Bushwick Avenue Congregational Church: "If there should be such an emergency in our neighborhood or in our city, I personally would be willing to throw open our church to the school authorities."

The Rev. Joseph Dunn Burrell, Clason Avenue Presbyterian Church: "It is a very reasonable proposition. The church could do a good turn for the city at a time of need. My judgment goes with the proposition. Some churches might find difficulty in using their property for church and school purposes, but most churches have Sunday school rooms which are not used during the week, and there would be no conflict."

The Rev. Robert H. Carson, Grace Presbyterian Church: "It is a very good idea and meets my entire approval. I doubt, however, whether the church can give much room to the project because many churches are given over to Red Cross work during the day."

The Rev. John Williams, Calvary Episcopal Church: "I will be glad to help; every church should be glad to."

help. We want to win the war. Churches in every community will fall in with The Evening World proposal and give every bit of spare room. We wanted to give our church for a hospital for convalescent soldiers last spring, but the occasion has not arisen, however."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The Department of Agriculture today announced that Dr. H. A. Pearson has resigned as Assistant Secretary of Agriculture to resume his duties as President of the Iowa State College of Agriculture. He will be succeeded by G. I. BUDGET TO DROP CITY EMPLOYEES ON OUTSIDE JOBS

Men on Leave Working for
"War" Pay May Find Old
Reliable Places Gone.

When the 1919 budget is made up a great many "patriots" who left well-paying city jobs for far more lucrative positions in ammunition plants, shipyards and other war industries will find that no provision has been made for continuing them on the city payrolls.

These employees went away under temporary leaves of absence. Some left $5,000 a year jobs to accept $5,000 war jobs with the expectation that when the war was over the city would still have their $5,000 a year posts open to them. In the opinion of some of the 1919 budget makers many city employees on a leave of absence are war profiteers. They do not believe that these men are so much entitled to pensions as employees who remain on the job or who are drafted.

It is the intention of the Board of Estimate to make public in a few days the names of city employees who left their jobs for positions connected in no way with either the Army or Navy, and who will be dropped from the payroll. There is still another class of city employees whose cases are now being considered. They are the men who volunteered in either the Army or Navy without sanction of their superiors. It was said today that those whose cases are "flagrant" violations of authority will not be provided for in the new budget. Their number, however, is negligible, one of the budget makers claims.

Every city employee who either has been drafted or is to be drafted is fully protected by the Penner law, which provides that the city shall pay him the difference between his pay as a soldier and what he received as a city employee. This far about five thousand city employees are being protected under this law.

City employees who enlisted with consent receive the same protection under the Penner law as drafted men. Radical changes have been decided on in making salary increases in the new budget. Any city employee receiving $1,500 or less will be raised $100. This increase will be uniform and will affect about 30,000 employees.

The question of whether employees receiving more than $1,500 a year are to receive increases, and, if so, how much is to be granted, will be settled by the Finance and Budget Committee, which comprises all the members of the Board of Estimate. Laborers are to receive increases from $2 to $2.50 a day. Street cleaners are to receive $1,000 a year, a slight increase over their present wages.

2 MORE OFFICERS NAMED BY WITNESS IN RAINCOAT FRAUD

Federal Agent Says He Heard
Col. Hirsch and Major Schofield
Mentioned.

A sensation was sprung in the trial today of Felix Gouled, a contract promoter, and David L. Podell, a lawyer, charged with an attempt to defraud the Government in connection with the Army raincoat scandal, when Daniel Davidson, a special agent of the Department of Justice, a witness, mentioned the names of Col. Hirsch and Major Schofield of the Quartermaster's Corps in Washington. He testified he heard Gouled say they "were in on raincoat contracts."

The trial is before Judge J. G. Hutchison and a jury in the Criminal Branch of the Federal District Court. Gouled and Podell, it is charged, were parties in a conspiracy with Capt. Aubrey W. Vaughan of the Quartermaster's Reserve Corps to defraud the Government out of income taxes on part of profits made by H. Rosenfield & Co., Inc., through the manufacture of raincoats for the army. Capt. Vaughan pleaded guilty to the conspiracy indictment some time ago and will be used as a Government witness.

Davidson testified that last July 18 and 19 he hid in a closet at the Rosenfield factory, No. 352 Fourth Avenue, and took notes of a conversation between Harry Rosenfield and Gouled in reference to obtaining contracts through Captain Vaughan.

He testified Rosenfield complained to Gouled that he thought other raincoat men were against him and that was why he could not get Federal contracts. He said, he added, he could not live on promises. Then Davidson testified Gouled answered:

"Don't worry. I like you, Rosenfield, and I'm going to let you in on a good thing. It's a proposition that only two men know about and is for the making of gas masks."

More complaint came from Rosenfield of promises only, Davidson said, then Gouled replied:

"You will be taken care of, Col. Hirsch and Major Schofield are in this thing too. Col. Hirsch gets 15 cents a garment and I get 3 per cent, but that does not show in the contract. I'm going to telephone from your office to-morrow to Capt. Vaughan and he will fix up things. You know the devil is not as black as he looks, and you know that there is no need of your trying to be a better Catholic than the Pope."

Judge Hutchison, who was feeling indisposed, adjourned court for the day.

FAVORS U. S. CONTROL FOR STATE EMPLOYEES

New Jersey Charity Expert
Alarmed Over Resignations of Institution Attendants.

TRENTON, Sept. 21.—A plan to have the Federal Government control the charitable institutions of the State of New Jersey as a wartime necessity was suggested by E. P. Earle, member of the State Department of Charities and Corrections, here in conference yesterday with Commissioner Burdette L. Lewis and a number of superintendents from institutions throughout the State. After pointing out that the floating prison or reformatory population of the country amounts to about half a million men, Mr. Earle added that such men could be placed at some useful work to help win the war.

"Our charitable institutions soon will be in a most serious condition because of the demands of the Selective Service draft upon the man power in these institutions and because of the more attractive opportunities offered elsewhere," said Mr. Earle. "Our men and women employees are leaving us and will continue to do so unless the Federal Government takes action to assign them to remain, under the Federalized plan of control."

TEACHER FREED IN COURT

Evidence Shows Walter G. White Bought Bonds and Tried to Enlist. Magistrate McCloskey in the State Avenue Court, Brooklyn, today freed Walter G. White, fine artist and drawing teacher of the Boys' High School, who was arrested at a book party on McDougal Street, Saturday, because of an alleged failure to remove his hat while band was playing "The Star-Spangled Banner." The complaint failed to appear in court.

Senator Allen J. Harland, counsel for White, showed the court three Liberty Bonds and two books of War Savings Stamps purchased by White and also credentials showing that White had tried to join the Army, the Navy and in the Marine Corps.
